

gloria.tv

Francis Orders "Visitation" Of Spanish Seminaries

4-6 minutes

The Congregation for the Clergy will carry out an Apostolic Visitation in all 45 diocesan seminaries in Spain between January and February 2023, the bishops announced on 6 November.

One wonders how so many seminaries can be "visited" in such a short time, unless the results of the visitation are predetermined.

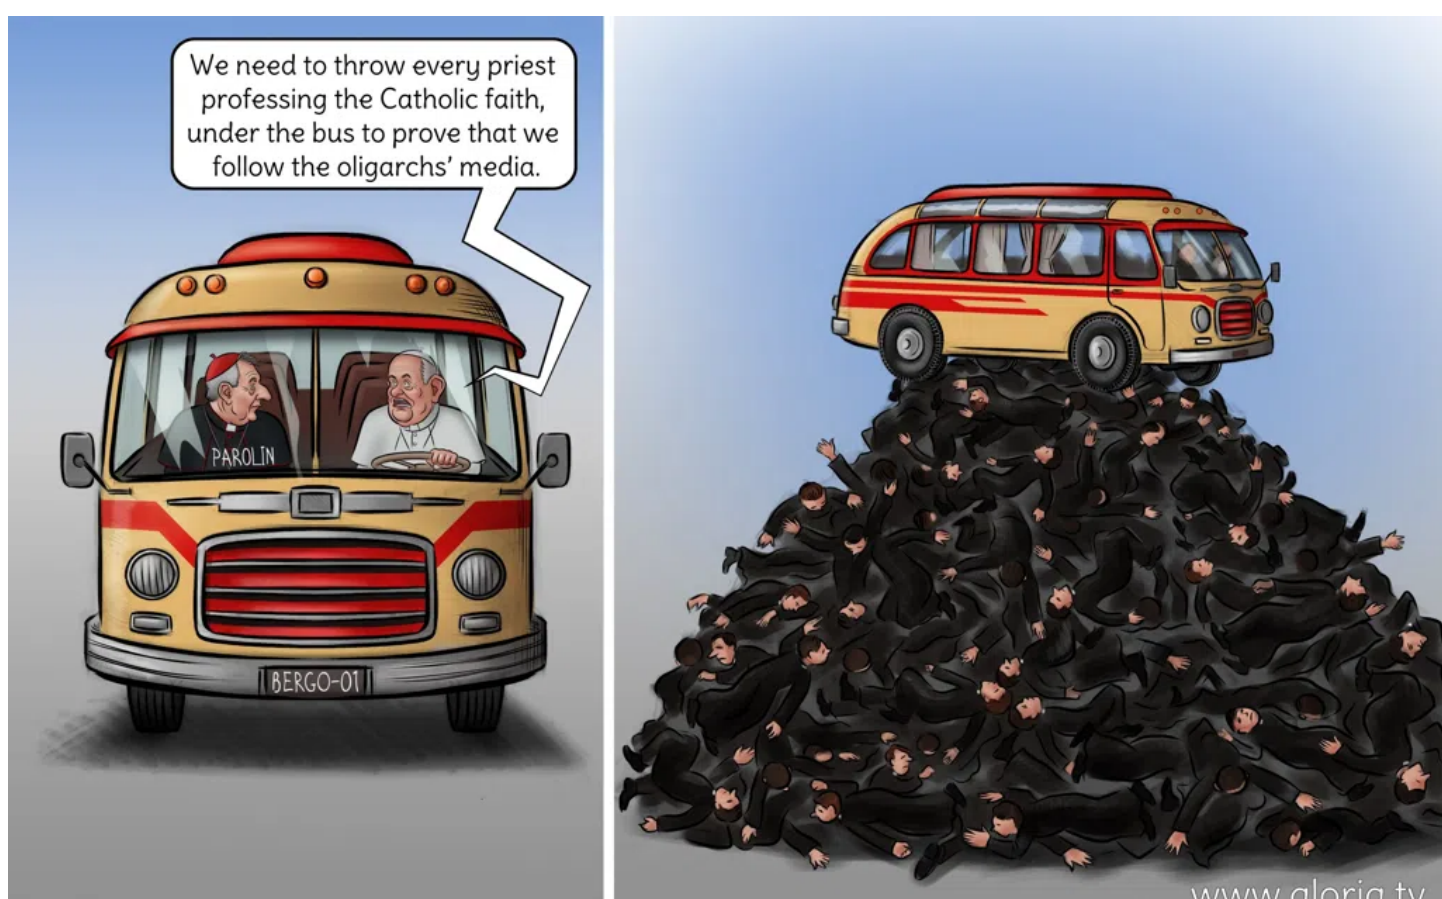

The "visitors" are two Uruguayan bishops, Milton Tróccoli, 58, and Arturo Fajardo, 61, both former rectors of the inter-diocesan Cristo Rey Seminary in Montevideo.

VidaNuevaDigital.com (8 Nov) reports that Spanish bishops and seminary rectors were surprised by the announcement. The matter was allegedly cooked up by Francis' grey eminence in Spain, Father Germán Arana Beorlegui SJ, and Barcelona's Cardinal Juan José Omella.

It is likely that the scheme is directed against the flourishing Redemptoris Mater Seminary of the Neocatechumenal Way in Madrid.

ElConfidencial.com quotes an anonymous Spanish rector who believes the visitation will end "with the imposition of a process of 'psychologisation' on seminarians", making it difficult to persevere and confusing seminarians about the priestly identity.

Picture: © Mazur/catholicchurch.org.uk, CC BY-NC-ND, #newsHxnmwumjwz

Like

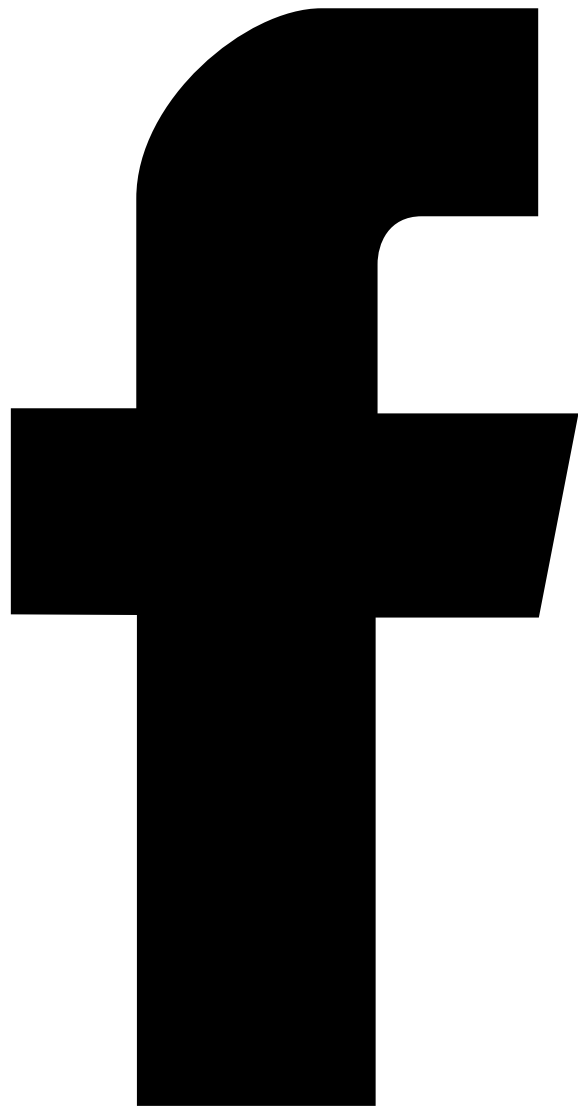

Share

Report

-

Social networks

-

Facebook

•

Twitter

•

Reddit

•

VK

•

Weibo

in

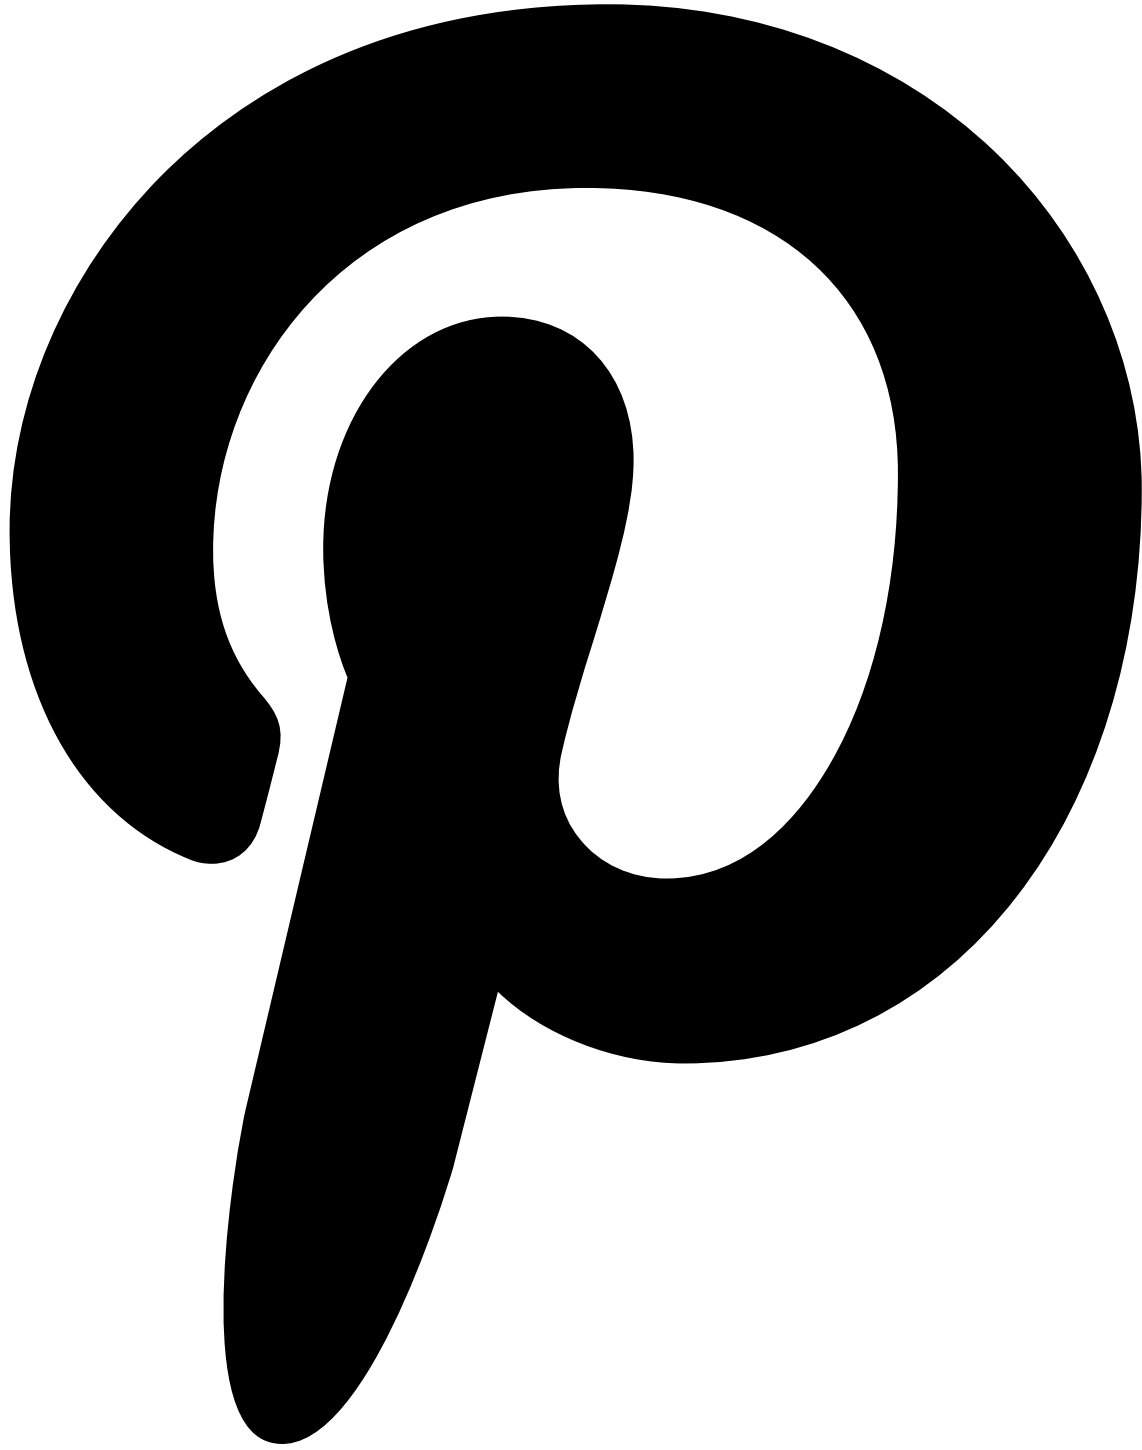

•

LinkedIn

t

•

Tumblr

Pinterest

-

Change post

-

Remove post

The “psychologisation” of the priesthood has done more damage to the priestly identity than anything else, aside from the Novus ordo, possibly.

This is true, but the Novus Ordo has done the most harm, almost from the very first when it was rolled out.

► " flourishing Redemptoris Mater Seminary of the Neocatechumenal Way in Madrid." This group isn't really Catholic in the first place, so "who cares?" if it is investigated. They are more like a cult. Before Vatican II, Spain was among the most conservative of Catholic countries, and it took relatively long for the "deforms" of Vatican II to penetrate into Spanish religious life.....but its done its ...More Another reason Gordo has to go-- and Deo placentes soon. Soon.

► In the last few months I have filled in playing the organ at a parish run by two Neo-Cat priests. While I have read much negative about the group over the last two decades or so, and I am sure accurate in its negativity, have been happily surprised by these two priests. Reverent Masses, one priest using the Roman Canon very often, fine sermons, strict moral theology, and not a word of complaint ...More